By the Captains Freeman, White, Jenkins & Hall, arrived here from London since our last, we have Prints to the 5th of October, from which we have collected the following Advices, viz.

LONDON, September 18.

By a letter from a great personage himself, to a nobleman of distinction at this Court, we hear, that in consequence of a late meeting between the Emperor of Germany, and the King of Prussia, at Neiss, which lasted three days, the latter monarch passed great encomiums on the former, and styles him "his best friend."

It is reported that a certain Bench of J——s || have denied licences to every publican who has John Wilkes, Esq; for his sign. A spirited person who was a sufferer on this account, said in his own vindication on the above occasion, that he was no friend either to John Wilkes or his cause, and therefore had hung him up in effigy, to shew his real principles; but if he had undesignedly given them any offence, he was ready to pull down John Wilkes, and hang up the whole Bench in his stead. —An evening paper of Saturday.

Sept. 20. Private letters from Paris mention the great decline of late, of the King's faculties and abilities; and of his being entirely lost in every thing by his Minister and Mistress.

Yesterday his Grace the Duke of Queensborough visited General Paoli, at his apartments in Bond-street; as did many others of the Nobility.

The Court of France, we are well assured, is no less than three years in arrear to its Household.

The above being absolutely true, falsifies the reports which have lately been propagated of the good condition of the affairs of the French, and their ability to go to war with any European or Asiatic power.

Sept. 23. The Earl of Chatham has publicly declared within this fortnight, that certain proceedings, with regard to Mr. Luttrell's election, are illegal, in toto & in parte. But it is an illegality of that kind, which cannot be remedied by the present P——t, and no other redress can be obtained but by another.

We are assured that the Abingdon Petition will certainly be heard next Sessions, notwithstanding the insinuations of interested persons to the contrary.

Last week a petition was delivered to his Majesty, by Dennys DeBerdt, Esq; Agent for the House of Representatives of the province of Massachusetts Bay; containing several allegations against the conduct of their Governor, (the substance of which has been mentioned at different times in the resolutions of said House, &c.) and concludes with intreating his Majesty "that his Excellency the Governor may be for ever removed from the government of the said Province, and that his Majesty would be graciously pleased to place one in his stead, worthy to serve the greatest and best monarch on earth."

The late uncommon wet weather was prognosticated by a very ingenious gentleman, immediately on the intelligence, that was received of the earthquake in Germany.

The principle on which the above gentleman formed his prediction, was a speculation verifyed by observation, on the effects of the atmosphere of all the earthquakes, that have happened within the last twenty years. The theoretic reason is, that rain being owing to the undulations of the atmosphere, those undulations are encreased and multiplied by the motion communicated to the air by the shocks of earthquakes.

If it is not too late to mention any thing on the subject of the Stratford Jubilee, we can acquaint our readers that a certain curious hair-dresser took a minute account of the number of his profession who were at Stratford on that occasion, and that they amounted to 273, many of whom we are told did not procure the least employment, and some of them were even obliged to beg their way back to town.

On Wednesday the East India Stock fell five per cent. which circumstance has greatly alarmed the whole city; and is a farther proof, that this continually rising and falling in those funds, is nothing more than a mere juggle, carried on by two or three persons high in the Direction, and ought to be put an end to by parliamentary authority.

In gratitude for the many signal and essential services done to the merchants at and trading to Boston, and other parts of North America; the several capital merchants concerned in that trade, and now in London, intend to invite Sir * to a public treat at the London Tavern. We hear that the five following dishes are ordered to be dressed by the most able cooks, that can be procured for love or money. At the upper end a calf's head; at the lower end, an ass's tongue; on one side, a dish of gooseberry fool; at the other side, a large puppy; and in the middle, a large dish with a halter in it. Timely notice will be sent to 'Squire Ketch, not to be otherwise engaged, as he is also to be invited on this public occasion.

A parallel has been drawn by some observing people, between the services rendered to the Crown by the Governor of Boston in North America, and those rendered by the first Lord of the Treasury of Great-Britain. Both these servants of the Crown have been invariably firm in the pursuit and accomplishment of their respective instructions; both have incurred the odium of an exasperated people; and the one has been rewarded with the dignity of a baronetage, while the other is rewarded with a Star and Garter.

LONDON, September 23.

We hear repeated applications have been made to Mr. Baily, to withdraw his Petition for Abingdon, but that he has always declared he would on no account give up the rights of those that vote for him.

We hear that Mr. B——ke, the ſuppoſed writer of the letters under the ſignature of Junius, was deſired, the other day, by a certain unpopular D——e, into whoſe company he accidentally fell, to declare whether he was the author of thoſe letters, to whom that gentleman returned this very ſpirited reply; that "if he had been capable of writing ſuch letters, he ſhould have had the ſpirit to have acknowledged it; but was ſorry to aſſure his Grace, he could not claim the merit of being the author of them."

From the above, and an expreſſion made uſe of in Junius's laſt letter, reſpecting the Rockingham adminiſtration, many people are inclined to believe that gentleman is not the author of thoſe ſpirited eſſays, as famous for their diction, as ſubjects.

Sept. 27. We hear that ſome freſh complaints are arrived againſt an American Governor lately come to England.

According to what we can learn of the news from India, the Britiſh troops have ſuffered greatly. It is ſaid that Heyder Ally had marched his troops up to the gates of Madras, and that his demands were very exorbitant; ſuch as, it was tho't, could not be complied with.

Heyder Ally, by making continual incurſions on the Company's ſettlements about Madras, has harraſſed them ſo much, that if he were to lay ſiege to that place, it is believed it could not poſſibly hold out againſt him ten days.

Sept. 28. A Nobleman of great diſtinction, who entertained General Paoli a few days ago, during a learned converſation upon the patriotic characters among the ancients, obſerved, "That the Romans ſhewed a moſt laudable ſpirit of generoſity at a time when a little people of Aſia were in danger of being oppreſſed and enſlaved, from the invaſion of the powerful king of Aſſyria, by exerting themſelves in favour of that unfortunate handful of people, and, with the ſpirit of a great and free nation, taking them under their protection, and preſerving their liberties.' 'Very true, my Lord, (replied the valiant Chief, with a deep ſigh) that was a glorious action indeed! I once flattered myſelf with receiving aſſiſtance of the like kind from the Engliſh nation, who appear to me, in other reſpects, to rival all I have ever read of the Roman virtue and bravery.

Extract of a letter from Worceſter, dated Sept. 21.

"We have this morning ſucceeded in a petition from this city, notwithſtanding the influence of the Lords, a Biſhop, and two Repreſentatives. When the prayer was read, the people with one voice called out, A Diſſolution of P——t! A Diſſolution of P——t! The petition runs from the Mayor, Freemen, and Inhabitants."

The diſcontents in America are only a recoil of thoſe at home, derived from the ſame ſource; to wit, the intrigues of a party Out to diſtreſs a party In. I accuſe no man, nor ſet of men; but whoever they are, againſt them the nation's deepeſt reſentment ought to be levelled. Their wickedneſs is only to be matched by the folly of thoſe in this kingdom, who encourage and protect the diſcontented in America againſt themſelves. The Coloniſts pretend to be independent of the nation, and ſubjects to the King. How an Engliſhman can digeſt that idea, I cannot conceive; and yet it is digeſted by many. However, the greateſt part of them have come to a reſolution to import no goods of Engliſh growth or fabrick; and if they can do without them, they are certainly in the right. But we would be as certainly in the wrong, to ſuffer their reſolution to take place, if we can prevent it. The queſtion is, which of us can ſubſiſt longeſt without the other; their preſent views are, to have the revenue laws repealed; when that is effected, they will think of ſomething elſe; in the mean time they are aſſured of ſucceſs by the ſtoppage of our trade, and the immediate clamours that muſt enſue, which will force the Miniſtry to come to their terms; and when they ſee the advantage of their game, I need not ſay they will play it over, again and again. But if we were not, what I don't chuſe to utter, and if the Adminiſtration has any ſpirit, nothing ſo eaſy as bringing them to reaſon. 'Tis but a proclamation, prohibiting them to trade with the French and Spaniſh ſettlements. This the King by his prerogative can do, whether they depend on him or the legiſlature; and this will render them at once the moſt ſupple and pliant of his Majeſty's ſubjects. It will teach them the ſubmiſſion and reſpect, due to their parent and protector; and convince them, that their beſt intereſt is to live on good terms with us. So that the effect of their unnatural and undutiful reſolution, will be to rengthen not to relax the ties, that unite them Great Britain.

Octob. 2: On Saturday Colonel Iſaac Barre and Dennys Deſberdt, Eſq; agents for the Colonies, received freſh packets of inſtructions from their conſtituents in America.

It is reported that William Henry Lyttleton, Eſq; his Majeſty's ambaſſador at the Court of Portugal, will be recalled to ſucceed Sir Francis Bernard as governor of Maſſachuſetts-Bay.

Octo. 4. It is ſaid there is an intention to proceed, at a convenient ſeaſon, againſt ſome of the perſons who have ſigned certain petitions; and that the mode of ſuch proceedings will be, to call them up to make good the charge contained in the petitions, and on failure to cenſure and lay penalties on them, as calumniators and ſtirrers up of ſedition.

It is ſaid, on the other hand, that attempts are making to prevail on the Court of the Livery of the City of London to take ſome ſteps towards the impeachment of a certain —, on the ſcore of his not having accounted for the public money that has paſſed through his hands.

It is reported that Sir Francis Bernard is not to return to North America, but be provided for in another department: however, his late ſalary as Governor of Maſſachuſetts Bay is continued to him, and is now paid out of the Civil Liſt.

Octob. 5. It is ſaid his Majeſty's garriſons of Gibraltar and Minorca, are ordered to be conſiderably augmented.

It is ſaid, that, for political reaſons, no further remonſtrances will be made to our neighbours the Dutch, relating to the affair of Surrinam.

It is ſaid, that a certain Dignitary in the Church has lately refuſed to admit a young Gentleman of excellent character into holy orders, who came from America with the ſtrongeſt recommendations from ſome of the principal inhabitants.

The reports that Governor Bernard is not to return to America, is entirely without foundation; it being determined to ſend that gentleman back to his government, with an enlargement of his commiſſion. (A Hum!)

We hear the Right Hon. Lord Edgecomb will be appointed to the command of his Majeſty's ſquadron in the Mediterranean, with plenipotentiary powers to the ſeveral ſtates of Barbary.

To the Printer of the PUBLIC LEDGER.

I Send you both a great Curioſity, and what, I hope alſo, may do good in theſe diſtracted times, may rectify ſome men's ignorant prejudices concerning our American brethren, and may raiſe the pity of others, if any can be without pity for a brave, loyal, and religious people, ſtruggling for their Liberties, the Liberties of Engliſhmen.

It is a brief extract from the Rev. Mr. HAVEN's ſermon, preached ſo lately as May 31, 1769, before the Governor, Council, and Houſe of Repreſentatives of the Province of Maſſachuſetts Bay, in New England, upon the anniverſary of the election of his Majeſty's Council for the ſaid Province. Printed by order of the Governor and Council.

The whole diſcourſe is full of wiſdom and ſobriety, and great ſeriouſneſs; and in the very caſt and manner of it, paints the fearful, anxious, uncertain ſituation of the country, more ſtrongly, than if the Preacher had ſet himſelf to do it, which was none of his deſign. His concluſion, and application to the ſubject of their meeting thus opens.

"It is, I hope, with ſincere Gratitude to God, that we ſee this anniverſary. The public tranſactions of it, honoured Fathers, we look upon to be very intereſting to this people"—— (The Perſon who ſigns Ruſhorth, continues the Quotation, which it is needleſs to reprint here, as ſaid Sermon is in the Hands of ſo many People in this Province)

PHILADELPHIA, November 16.

Extract of a Letter from Maryland dated Nov. 11.

"Captain Johnſon left London the 20th of Auguſt, and is arrived in Patuxent, with about £30,000 in Cargoes for different Perſons.—The Goods are to be ſtored."

Captain Badger, from Maryland, informs, that he ſaw a Ship aſhore on Cape Henry; that the Maſter of a Fiſhing Boat acquainted him, ſhe was from London, and had Convicts on board, who had attempted to run away with the Ship, which obliged the Captain and Crew to fire on them, when two of the Convicts were killed.

Meſſieurs EDES & GILL,

Pleaſe to give the following Letter directed to me, and my Anſwer, a Place in your Paper, and you'l oblige your conſtant Reader, A FRIEND.

SIR,

AS you have always been my friend and adviſer, I again take the liberty to apply to you for your ſage advice in a matter that gives me great uneaſineſs. I took and indeed followed your advice in regard to falling in with the merchants in their non-importation, till the acts impoſing duty upon glaſs, &c. ſhould be repealed, which I have ſtrictly adhered to, and have lately (tho' as I then tho't much againſt my intereſt) by your advice ſign'd to the new agreement not to import till all the revenue acts are repealed, ſince which I have been taking an account of all my goods, and find they amount to upwards of £.900 ſterling firſt coſt, and tho' I ſell more goods now for ready money than laſt year, when I had more than double the value, and a general aſſortment, yet I cannot bear to turn away ready money, being now very much unſorted, having a tripple quantity of ſome ſort of goods, and none of others, had I not better order by the veſſels now going to London about 2 or 300l. worth of goods to get off the reſt; I believe I can manage matters ſo as not to be diſcovered. I have got about £150 ſterling by me in caſh, which I can get a bill for about 7½ per cent under par; I muſt beg of you to conſider this matter, and I will call on you a Thurſday Evening.

Friend GEORGE,

I Juſt received thine of yeſterday, with a moſt diſhonorable propoſal on thy part, and an inſult offered to my honor and judgment; cou'd thou poſſibly think I was capable of falling in with ſuch baſe ſentiments? is it not ſufficient that ye ſhould have no feeling for your country, at a time when each individual calls upon his friends and neighbours for their aſſiſtance in joining their reciprocal relief for themſelves, their country, and their poſterity? But that thou ſhould baſely bely thy own conſcience, and riſque thy reputation; can it thou be fool enough to ſuppoſe ye will not be diſcovered when every man is upon the look-out; and if ye ſhould, what will become of thy reputation? wou'd thou truſt a man thyſelf again, that thou had diſcovered to act ſo baſe and falſe a part?—George, thou mayſt ſave thyſelf the trouble of calling on me, unleſs thou chooſeſt I ſhould ſhut the doors againſt thee——Repent and ſin no more, for thou haſt done it in intention already; preſerve a good conſcience, and if thou would continue to ſerve thy country and thyſelf too, if thou will take my advice, exchange two parts of the three thou haſt too much of for two parts of three that probably thou mayſt find others haſt too much of, that thou haſt not; this will ſerve thee both; thou will be a friend to thyſelf, and thy friend: If every trader was to fall into this practice, not only in Boſton, but through the province and continent, they all might carry on a briſk trade in this dearth, upon the ſame capital, to the great advantage of every individual, and the whole community, and at the ſame time anſwer the great ends and worthy purpoſes they have all fallen into; if ye abandon this accurſed ſentiment, and follow my advice, thou will ſtill find me thy friend.

P. S. Remember too George the £.150 caſh thou haſt by thee, which thou ſayſt can buy a bill at 7½ under par, added to that thou will be able to raiſe from this exchanged aſſortment, will enable thee to remit a good ſum home, and preſerve thy credit at 7½ per cent in thy favor, now that likely thou will not have an opportunity of doing when thy ill-propoſed ſentiment comes to hand, the fall of exchange is owing to the many bills that are now drawing for the produce of the bountiful ſeaſon of the whale and cod fiſhery, the ſhipping of which now draweth towards a cloſe for this year, and the return of another ſeaſon can only afford ſuch another opportunity, even if attended with the ſame ſucceſs, which thou mayſt not expect.

BOSTON, November 27.

We hear from Cambridge, that on the 13th Inſtant was married Mr. GEORGE SPOONER of this Town, Merchant, to Miſs PHEBE BORLAND, Daughter of JOHN BORLAND, Eſq; of that Place.

Laſt Thurſday ſen'night Mr. David Newell, a noted Cooper at Charleſtown, was ſeized with an Appoplectic Fit, and died immediately.

The Article in Draper's Paper of Mr. T——e's having Leave to go Home to England, muſt certainly be a Miſtake——For his Honor our Lt. G——H——ch——n has ſaid that Mr. T—— cannot go home without the Leave or Conſent of his Brother Commiſſioners, and which he knows Mr. T—— will not be able to obtain.—No one doubts his Honor's Intimacy with the Sentiments and Wiſhes of the Commiſſioners; but it is ſomething new that five Gentlemen equal in a Commiſſion under the Crown, and ſerving under the Direction of a ſuperior Board, ſhould have Power thus to grant or refuſe each other Leave of Abſence to croſs the Atlantic. But there is no gain-ſaying ſuch an high Authority as this comes from, One, of late, ſo renowned for Veracity, as well as for unerring Judgment, in both public and private Matters.——But then his Honor's particular Friend C——s P——x——t gives out, that his Brother Commiſſioner T—— is ordered Home. Here again is another high Authority that always ſpeaks Truth. Time will determine the Infallibility of theſe Great Judges.

An elegant COACH in the modern Taſte was finiſhed laſt Week for an honorable Gentleman here: It was made by Capt. Paddock; and the Workmanſhip is judg'd to be as compleat and as good as any one ever imported.

On the 16th Inſtant departed this Life at Paxton, the the Rev. Mr. SILAS BIGLOW.

Yeſterday Captain Hood arrived here from London. Capt. Bartlet was arrived in London: In whom went Paſſenger the Hon. General Mackay.

Extract of a Letter from London, dated October 3.

"We are aſſured from good Authority, that, in Caſe a certain back-ſliding patriotic Merchant is proceeded againſt at Law, he has drawn up a full & ſatisfactory Vindication of himſelf, which contains ſome Charges againſt a Perſon of great Rank, reſpecting that Negociation, that, when known, will excite the Admiration of the Public."

Extract of a late Letter from a known good Friend to both Countries, a Gentleman of Fortune and Character in London, to his Correſpondent in New-England.

—"O my Dear Friend why will your Ladies take the law of faſhion, from ſuch a wanton tyranny of example, as is impoſed on you from Great-Britain? I am more clear in the enormity of this deſpotiſm (which you ſubmit to) than of all the Revenue laws which America groans under; ſo many yards of coſtly ſilk, as we cut in pieces with the moſt licentious profuſion! The decent night Gown, which ſhewed the ſhape of the ſex, in all its native elegance, is now baniſhed; and nothing but Negligees are ſeen with things flapping down on each ſide, which look as if the Ladies had turn'd a moſt monſtrous pair of ſilk pockets inſide out, and drawn them through their pocket holes. The hinder part of their garment ſeems contrived by an Upholſterer, for it is a drawn-up-curtain; and for the front how monſtrouſly is the elegant fall of the Petticoat deformed with flounces of maſſacred ſilk! Oh Barbarous Murder both of beauty and materials—but if I cannot reſtore the decent night Gown, to its uſurped power and influence; for decency ſake, for beauty ſake, by all that is engaging in ſweetneſs & nature, let me obtain, that the firſt man who comes among you to torture the Ladies heads of hair in New-England, as they are diſtorted among us, cut that Raſcal's head off for his reward."—

Laſt Tueſday died here, in the 30th Year of his Age, Mr. SAMUEL HILL. He was endowed by Nature with a fine Genius and quick Senſibility of Soul, which, join'd to the Advantages of a good Education, render'd his Ideas extenſive,—his Sentiments liberal, generous, and manly. Altho' not exempted from the common Frailties of Humanity, he poſſeſſed Qualities that never fail to excite eſteem. Cut off in the prime of Life, thoſe Talents are now eternally dormant, which had he liv'd to improve, would probably have exhibited a Character truly uſeful to Society.

Laſt Tueſday Night a Sailor belonging to the Roſe Man of War, being intoxicated with Liquor, fell from the Long-Wharf, and was drowned: And the next Day his Body was found and buried.

Soon after the arrival of the Nettleham Baronet in London, it was propagated by the Tories there, as a certain fact, that the Merchants in America were importing Goods in every Colony contrary to their Agreement, and Mein's Chronicle was produced as a Voucher for the Truth of the Story! Lord H—h affected to laugh at the Reſolutions of the Merchants, and gave out that large Quantities of Goods were ſent to the Continent thro' the Iſland of Bermudas.—As almoſt every body in Britain and America does or may know that there could be no foundation for ſuch a Story, his Lordſhip has betray'd an unpardonable Weakneſs in believing it, or ſomething worſe in attempting to impoſe upon the Credulity of others. It is plain that Lord H—h expected ſome time ago that he ſhould be embarraſſed by this Agreement of the American Merchants, and endeavour'd to coaxe them by an aſſurance that the Revenue Acts ſhould be repealed; but finding that this aſſurance was not rely'd upon, he then in order to prevent the clamours of the Manufacturers endeavoured to make them believe that the Americans had broke thro' their own Agreement.——A Letter from a Gentleman in London of the 21ſt of Sept. ſays, If it were true the Americans would deſerve the Slavery deſign'd for them; and ſtrongly recommends it to the People of this Country to bind themſelves even by OATH not to purchaſe Britiſh Goods till all the Revenue Acts are repealed—Certainly if there were no purchaſers there would be no importers.

Extract from the North-Briton of September 30.

"Has not the Honor of Knighthood been conferred "upon that TRAITOR to his Country, that Diſgrace "to all good Government, Sir Francis Bernard, Gov. "of Maſſachuſetts-Bay, who has had a principal Hand "in alienating the Affections of the Coloniſts from their "Mother Country, and who, by his Ignorance, his "Obſtinacy, and his Cruelty, has excited ſuch a Flame "in America, as though it may be allayed, can never "be extinguiſhed?"

The CABAL have got great News by the laſt Ships from their Friend the Nettleham Baronet. Firſt, he was very graciouſly received—Then he had ſeveral long and ſhort Conferences, in which he had an Opportunity of ſetting forth the Climate of New-England—he then cauſed it to be reported that he was to return to his Government with an Extenſion of his Commiſſion—that if his Repreſentations were true he was to return with ſuch a Fleet and Army as would make the Rebels all know their Driver—that he was to be appointed to the Government of Jamaica—that he was to go over to the Continent of Europe in a Publick Character—that he was to have a lucrative Place at Home—that he was to be made a Member of Parliament—that he was to have a Seat at the Board of Trade, and that he was to be made a Gentleman, &c. Either, or all of which may be poſſible, excepting the laſt——For as James the firſt ſaid to one of his Countrymen who followed him up to London ſoliciting to be made a Gentleman, Hoot, Hoot Man, What is't ye are aſking, I can make ye an Earl, or a Knight, or a Baronet, but ye can never be made a Gentleman.

From a CELEBRATED AUTHOR.

"IT is uſually ſaid, that bad Government is better than none; a propoſition which is far from ſelf evident. I am apt to think that abſolute tyranny is worſe than anarchy; for I can eaſily ſuppoſe popular confuſion to be leſs miſchievous, than a ſettled active tyranny, that it will do leſs harm, and is likely to end ſooner. All tumults are in their nature ſhort, and muſt be ſhort in duration, muſt ſoon ſubſide, or ſettle into ſome order: But Tyranny may laſt for ages, and go on deſtroying, till it has left nothing to deſtroy! What can the moſt dreadful anarchy produce, but a temporary work of deſolation and fury? what but violation of law and life? And can government be ſaid to exiſt, where all juſtice is neglected, where all violence and oppreſſion is committed, where lawleſs will is the only reaſon, where the ravages of blind appetite, and of the blind ſword, are the only adminiſtration?

If this be GOVERNMENT, what is ANARCHY! Is OBEDIENCE due to aught but LAW and PROTECTION? Is he a Governor who ſpoils & kills? Am I oblig'd to pay duty and revenue to my enemy, a common ROBBER? By doings, and not by titles and names, is a Governor diſtinguiſhed from an enemy; and leſs vengeance is due to a profeſs'd ſpoiler, than to a ſpoiling magiſtrate. What have ſocieties to do with ſuch a deſtructive traitor, but to exterminate & deſtroy him, before he has deſtroy'd ſociety and all men? An oppreſſor under the name of a ruler, is the moſt deteſtable oppreſſor; and by ſuch impudence and mockery ſhould but quicken univerſal reſentment.——I know of no argument for deſtroying ANARCHY, but what is full as ſtrong for deſtroying TYRANNY.

TACITUS.

PHILADELPHIA, November 16.

Captain Young, from Jamaica, informs, that on the 10th of Sept. about Two o'Clock in the Morning, they had a smart Shock of an Earthquake there and about two Hours afterwards another Shock, not so severe as the first, which greatly terrified the Inhabitants, but providentially no Damage was done them.

Saturday last the Brig Wolfe, Capt. Potts, belonging to London (late commanded by Capt. Robinson who died on the Passage, about 3 Weeks after he sail'd) arrived here in 84 Days from Teneriffe. On the 12th ult. in Lat. 28 : 33, Long. 62 : 30, Capt. Potts spoke a Schooner from Virginia for Antigua, 5 Days out ; 15th, in Lat. 33 : 14, Long. 63, spoke a Ship, late commanded by Captain Hubbard, bound to London from York River, in Virginia, that had lost her Main and Mizenmasts about the latter End of September, in a violent Gale of Wind, and afterwards, in lying too in the same Gale, a Sea struck the Vessel, and washed the Master, Mate, and 7 Hands, overboard, who were all drowned ; also carried away the Boats Quarter Rails, Stanchions, and every Thing off the Deck ; she had 5 Hands and a Passenger on board, and was then bearing away for Antigua.

Extract of a letter from Maryland, dated Nov. 11.

"Captain Johnson left London the 20th of August, and is arrived in Patuxent, with about £ 20,000 in Cargoes for different Persons.---The Goods are to be stored."

Capt. Badger, from Maryland, informs, that he saw a Ship ashore on Cape Henry ; that the Master of a Fishing Boat acquainted him, she was from London, and had Convicts on board, who had attempted to run away with the Ship, which obliged the Capt. and Crew to fire on them, when two of the convicts were killed.

By Capt. Mills, from North-Carolina we learn, that Capt. Hunt's Sloop, belonging to New-York, and two Sloops belonging to New-England, are all the Vessels that have yet been got off, out of 20 Sail that were drove a shore in the late Storm.

NEW-YORK, November 20.

WHERRAS it has given great umbrage to the inhabitants of this city, that I took on board the ship New-York, in London, a few packages of goods belonging to Mr. Daniel Campbell, of Schenectady, contrary to the agreement subscribed by the merchants and traders of said city ; I find myself indespensably obliged, as well in justification of my own character, as for the satisfaction of the community, of which it ever has and ever will be my ambition to approve myself a worthy member, to declare on oath the reasons which induced me to receive on board the said ship, the goods above mentioned, and I flatter myself they will intirely exculpate me from that heavy censure, which a wilful transgression of so patriotic and virtuous an agreement would most justly have brought upon me.

I THEREFORE do solemnly depose and say, That I did refuse taking any goods (even presents not excepted) from several persons in London, who offered to send them, and strongly solicited me to take them in the said ship ; that I did also repeatedly refuse taking the above mentioned packages from John Blackburn, Merchant, in London, for the said Daniel Campbell, until he assured me upon his word of honour, that the said packages were for Sir William Johnson, for the use of government, as presents to the Indians ; and that even then I did not consent to take the said goods without the precaution of strictly enjoining the said Mr. Blackburn, not to lead me or himself into any scrape, by shipping the said goods ; that my owners in New-York, in their orders to me said, they would rather the ship should be lost, than that any goods should be brought in her contrary to the merchants agreement ; that I conceived from the repeated assurances of the said Mr. Blackburn, that the said goods being for the use of government, were not comprehended by the said agreement, or I would not have received them on board the said ship for any consideration whatever ; and farther I the deponent say not. Sign'd, CORNELIUS HAIGHT.

Sworn before me, Sign'd, ELIAS DESBROSSES.

30th Nov.

N. B. From the assurances contained in the above narrative and affidavit, the committee of merchants have authorised me to declare that they are well satisfied I had no intention to transgress the non-importation agreement, or give offence to any person in this city, and hope for the like charity from the rest of my fellow citizens.

NEW-LONDON, November 17.

Last Sunday died suddenly at Charlestown, in the Colony of Rhode-Island, Thomas Ninnicraft, Sachem of the Narraganset Tribe of Indians.

We hear from several Towns in this Colony of considerable Damage being done by mad Dogs, viz. in the Town of Coventry, upwards of 30 Hogs that had been bit have died, and one mad Dog killed ; at Lebanon, Two Cowes and Eight Geese have died, and a transient Person bit thro' the Hand ; the Dog was afterwards killed ; at Woodstock, sundry Hogs supposed to have been bit have died ; at Canada in Windham, sundry Hogs have died, where also a Man has been bit ; at Chelsea in Norwich, a mad Dog has been killed.

Boston, November 27.

We hear that the Ripon which sailed from Boston the 4th of August, made the Land the 31st of the same Month ; and that on the 3d of September Sir Francis Bernard landed at Portsmouth : The 5th he arrived in London : The 6th he was presented to His Majesty, who did him the Honour of conversing with him for some Time : The 7th he was again at Court, in order to his being presented to the Queen, but Her Majesty did not come that Day to the Drawing-Room. The King again condescended to a Conversation with him longer than the Day before. We hear further, that great Civilities were shewn to Sir Francis by many Persons of Distinction who were at Court. The Treasury was under Adjournment, and it was a Time of general Vacation, and no Prospect of any Business being done relative to America until Lord Hillsborough's Return from Ireland.---His Lordship was expected the Beginning of October. The Parliament, we hear, would not meet to do Business until after Christmas.

We hear also, that Mr. DeBerdt presented the Remonstrance of the Honorable House of Representatives of this Province on the 14th of September.

Tuesday Night a Sailor belonging to the Rose Man of War, being intoxicated with Liquor, fell from the Long-Wharf, and was drowned ; Wednesday his Body was found and buried.

We hear that many of the Soldiers, who had deserted from the two Regiments quartered in this Town, have lately returned to their Colours ; last Friday six, belonging to the 14th Regiment, came in together. --- They have all received their Pardon.

An elegant COACH in the modern Taste was finished last Week for an honorable Gentleman here : It was made by Capt. Paddock ; and the Workmanship is judg'd to be as compleat and as good as any one ever imported.

On the 30th ult. the Brig Sally, Capt. Wheeler, bound from Newport to Quebec, having met with bad Weather in which they were obliged to throw their Cattle overboard, and their Rigging, &c. much damaged, put into Halifax to refit.

We hear from Merrymack, that on the 17th o May last, one William Poge, alias William Pollock, a Deserter from the 14th Regiment, stationed here, presented a Gun having six Inches of Powder and Wadd in it, at Mr. Joh. Neal, of Merrymack, and discharged the same, whereby said Neal was grievously wounded in his left Leg ; having the Bones laid bare near six Inches, the Cords and Arteries that supported his Foot cut off, and the Flesh so mangled, that for some Time they expected the Loss of his Leg, if not of his Life, but by the Care of able Surgeons his Leg is saved hitherto, and it was thought till within a Fortnight that it was healed up Sound, and past Danger, he is now in continual Pain, and under the Surgeon's Care, who fears the Wound will break out again, owing to the Bones being burnt and fractured, which may yet prove fatal to the Limb or Life.---The said Poge soon after this Accident, absconded, and we hear he is now at a Place called Middletown, one of the Manadnocks, in New-Hampshire Government, with a Number of Deserters and Villains, sheltered from Justice by some of the Inhabitants : It is a great Pity that every Lover of his Country don't use his Endeavours to bring such Villains to Punishment.

Last Thursday sen'night Mr. -------- Newell, a noted Cooper at Charlestown, was seized with an Apoplectic Fit and died immediately.

The Ceremony was performed at Eight o'Clock in the Evening, the Company "supped at Nine, the Bride danced till Twelve, and "at Two in the Morning was delivered of a Son.--- "This Circumstance, however, did not interrupt the "Jollity of the Wedding, as the Bride and her little "one were in a fair Way to do well."

LONDON, October 5.

It is given out, that Sir Francis Bernard is not to return to North America, but be provided for in another department. However, his late salary as Governor of Massachusetts-Bay is continued to him, and is said to be paid out of the Civil List.

We are assured, that a Certain Dignitary in the Church has lately refused to admit a young Gentleman of excellent character into holy orders, who came from America with the strongest recommendations from some of the principal inhabitants.

On Sunday Mr. Alderman Beckford visited General Paoli, at his apartments in Old Bond-street.

On Sunday last General Paoli, accompained by James Boswell, Esq; took an airing in Hyde-Park in his coach ; The General came out, and walked by the side of the Serpentine River, and through Kensington-gardens.

Yesterday General Paoli went and viewed the Royal-hospital at Greenwich, which was shewn him by Sir George Bridges Rodney.

That Chief has been attended in his tour by Count Gentili, a Corsican Officer in the Imperial service, and by his Secretary, the Abbe Guelfucci.

We are assured that, for political reasons, no further Remonstrances will be made to our neighbours the Dutch, relating to the affair of Surinam.

It is now said, by those who are no enemies to the Ministry, that as soon as the supplies are raised, and the most important business of the ensuing Session is completed, the present Parliament will be dissolved.

It is generally thought, that as soon as either of the patriotic Aldermen is chosen Lord Mayor, the vacancy of Farringdon Ward is likely to be filled up, by swearing in John Wilkes, Esq; who has been duly elected.

This capital, says one of our Correspondents, is at present in a hopeful situation, attacked by a gouty mushroom of an Earl from the West, and by a Boiler of Melasses in the East. Should they carry us by storm, what a disgrace to our Governors! what a scandal to ourselves! A Minister in flannel, and a M--y--r in a sugartub, are hopeful tokens of our political care and taste. But some people will exclaim---Mark how the one countenances the use of our staple commodity ; and is not the other, seriously, the sweetest fellow this side of Jamaica ? ---Di boni hominis ominibus quia præstant ?

This day the Beadles and Servants of the Worshipful Company of Salters are to attend Divine Service at St. Magnus Church, London-bridge, pursuant to the Will of Sir John Salter, who died in the year 1605, who was a good Benefactor to the said Company, and ordered that the Beadles and Servants should go to the said Church the first week in October, and knock upon his grave-stone with sticks or staves, three times each person, and say, "How do you do, brother Salter ? I hope you are well."

In the year 1763, when the Duke de Nivernois was machinating the ruin of this nation, he received a letter from the Duke de Praslin, in part of which were the following remarkable words : "It is very true, that we are both of us practising a trade that we ought to be ashamed of. You will very soon be out of it, and I assure you that I should be very glad, if I had the same prospect."

A Rupture is confidently talked of between Prussia and Russia.

The Chevalier D'Eon's Answer to Dr. Musgrave's Letter published in last Monday's Evening-Post.

SIR,

YOU will permit me to believe that you never knew any more of me, than I have the honour of knowing of you; and if in your letter of the 12th of August you had not made a wrong use of my name, I should not now find myself obliged to enter into a correspondence with you.

You pretend that "in the summer of the year "1764, overtures were made in my name to several "members of parliament, importing, that I was "ready to impeach three persons, two of whom "were peers, and members of the Privy Council, of "having sold the peace to the French." And you seem to found thereupon the evidence of a charge which you say you carried yourself to Lord Halifax.

I declare therefore here, Sir, that I never made, nor caused to be made, any such overture, either in the winter or summer of the year 1764, nor at any other time. I am on one side, too faithful to the office I filled; and on the other, too zealous a friend to both.

I confess you do not say it was I that made these overtures: but only that they were made in my name, particularly to Sir Geo. Yonge, and Mr. Fitzherbert.

I assure you I do not know either of these gentlemen, and never authorised any person whatever to make in my name such overtures, which the abhorrence alone I have for calumny, would make me detest.

I call upon you, therefore, Sir, to lay before the public the name of the audacious person who has made use of mine to cover his own odious offers. The gentlemen whom you have given as your witnesses, cannot deny you this justification of their own veracity and your's.

Though I cannot but commend your integrity in citing your authors, yet it appears to me, an act of the last imprudence, in an affair of so much weight, to build upon report for naming publicly a person of my character, without having previously consulted him.—What must be the result?—The public will have read greedily your letter; will have believed its contents, because you appeal therein to my testimony: But what will they think now when your own interest, my honour and truth oblige me to deny all that you have advanced therein with respect to me?

It is the same with your pretence that "about the "17th of May, 1765, Mr. Fitzherbert told you, "he knew that overtures had been made to me to "sell for a sum of money the papers that were in "my hands."

I have always flattered myself with being possessed of the esteem and friendship of the English, with whom I have lived. Who of them then in these sentiments would have presumed to have shewn sufficient contempt for me to have made me such an overture? The injury would have been the more sensibly felt by me, as the character of the person was more respectable.

I shall not follow you, Sir, either in all the steps you have thought it your duty to take, or in the arguments you make use of to support them: These shew the orator, and those if they be well founded, prove the patriot.

But I here certify to you, on my word of honour, and in the face of the public, that I cannot be of any sort of use to you: That I never entered into any treaty for the sale of my papers; and never either by myself or any agent authorized on my part, offered to make appear, that the peace had been sold to France.

If Lord Halifax, or the Speaker, to whom you say you addressed yourself, in order to call upon me as evidence with respect to the validity of your charge, had caused me to be cited; they would have perceived by my answers, that I am of opinion, that England rather gave money to France, than France to England, to conclude the last peace: and that the happiness I had in concurring to the great work of peace has inspired me with sentiments of the fullest veneration for the English Commissioners who had been employed in it, and with the most lively esteem and sincerest admiration for the late Count de Viry, who in his attachments to the welfare of the two nations then at war, and thanks to his indefatigable zeal! had the glory of bringing that peace to a happy conclusion.

Judge now, Sir, with what solidity you can depend upon me to make your charge clear.

I am too well known in England to have been under any necessity of this reply, if the frankness of your letter had not appeared to me to merit my preventing you from taking any further steps, which could not but turn to your prejudice, in as much as they would be founded solely on false reports of my proceedings.

In order to enable you to be as prudent as patriotic, I sign this letter, and therein give you my address, that for the maintenance of your own veracity you may furnish me with the means of convicting publicly those slanderers who have dared to make use of my name in a manner still more repugnant to real facts, than the dignity with which I have ever supported my character.

I have the honour of being your humble Servant,

vide Pa. 767 The Chevalier D'EON.

To Mr. Musgrave, Westminster.

To the Printer of the PUBLIC LEDGER.

SEnd you both a great Curiosity, and what, I hope also, may be great in these distracted times, may rectify some gross mistakes or prejudices concerning our American brethren, and may raise the pity or esteem, if any can be without pity for a brave, loyal, and religious people, struggling for their Liberties, the Liberties of Englishmen.

It is a brief extract from the Rev. Mr. HAVEN's sermon, preached so lately as May 31, 1769, before the Governor, Council, and House of Representatives of the Province of Massachusetts Bay, in New England, upon the anniversary of the election of his Majesty's Council for the said Province. Printed by order of the Governor and Council.

The whole discourse is full of wisdom and sobriety, and great seriousness; and in the very cast and manner of it, paints the fearful, anxious, uncertain situation of the country, more strongly, than if the Preacher had set himself to do it, which was none of his design. His conclusion, and application to the subject of their meeting thus opens.

"It is, I hope, with sincere Gratitude to God, that we see this anniversary. The public transactions of it, honoured Fathers, we look upon to be very interesting to this people" ——— (The Person who signs Rushorth, continues the Quotation, which it is needless to reprint here, as said Sermon is in the Hands of so many People in this Province)

LONDON, September 30.

It is asserted that the Russians have attacked and defeated Prince Martin Lubomirski, near Lemberg, and taken all his artillery and baggage. Thorn is entirely surrounded by the Confederates. The course of our post is yet interrupted.

Several Lieutenants in our Navy, who are upon half-pay, have petitioned the Admiralty for leave to go into the Russian service; which, it is said, has been granted them, upon condition of their returning, on notice for that purpose. All those who obtain leave have their half-pay continued, the same as if they were in England.

The General Officer who effected his escape from the Civil Officer by means of military command, while under arrest, did not, as was reported, surrender himself voluntarily; but was apprehended at Marybone, and from thence conveyed to the County Jail.

Wednesday, upon writ of Habeas Corpus, the body of the said General was removed from Newgate before Lord Mansfield, at Cane-wood, near Highgate, and from thence committed to the custody of the Marshal of the King's Bench.

A certain general officer has obtained leave to sell his commission, if no other means can be found to satisfy his creditors.

We hear Sir Francis Bernard will soon be appointed to set out for the Continent, in a public character.

It is a remark obvious to the most shallow Politicians, that if the Manufacturers in England should not take too sudden an alarm at the Resolutions of the Americans not to receive English goods, these Resolutions must soon become felo de se, many of the articles therein enumerated being absolute necessaries. And if necessity once breaks through a part, interest and convenience will quickly set aside the rest.

A report prevailed yesterday, that the Ottoman army had been defeated by the Russians, and had lost near 50,000 men.

A letter from Constantinople, dated Aug. 17, says, "This moment are brought to the Seraglio the heads of the Vizier and a Pacha of three Tails."

So desirous are the French ministry to be punctually informed of the intended rout of the Russian fleet, that exclusive of the small frigate now in the Downs, they have stationed another to cruize between the Naze of Norway, at Straw Point, on the coast of Jutland; with orders to dog the above fleet in case of its steering the north passage round Ireland.

Letters from Rochelle mention, that the French Merchants have already greatly availed themselves of the disputes between Great Britain and her Colonies, by pouring into North America large quantities of their own Manufactures, which it will be hardly possible to prevent being smuggled on different parts of so extensive a Coast.

Letters from Dublin mention, that a discovery of a very barbarous transaction has been lately made in that city. A Gentleman, who was left Guardian to his brother's children, a few years ago, procured some villains to kidnap them; they were sent to America, where they miserably perished in the most abject slavery. A public subscription, the letters add, will be set on foot to prosecute the offender.

Warsaw, Sept. 6. Nothing very material has happended between the Russians and the Turks, since the former has repassed the Niester. We hear that the Tartars who penetrated into Poland by the way of Mohilow have retreated; they have destroyed several towns and villages.
